OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University, held June 14, 1894, the President communicated to the Board a letter from Mrs. John A. J. Crellwell which accompanied an important gift of books. Whereupon the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Johns Hopkins University be returned to Mrs. Crellwell for presenting to this institution a most important, possibly a unique, collection of the printed papers pertaining to the adjustment of the Alabama claims, a collection made with great care by her husband, the Honorable John A. J. Crellwell, of Maryland, who was counsel for the United States in both the courts established by Congress for the distribution of the sums received from the Government of Great Britain.

Resolved, That a separate case, upon which an appropriate inscription shall be placed, be provided for the Crellwell collection of papers pertaining to the Alabama claims; that the Librarian be directed to see that the papers are properly catalogued and distinctly labelled; and that a report upon the collection, when it has been arranged and catalogued, be presented to this Board.
