Sir.

I arrived here yesterday as I understood from some of the Lacey Managers that there was still work enough to be passed upon to warrant my coming. I feel quite at a loss with no head to the affairs with which place I bear you rendered such distinguished service to this enterprise of the south-land. Will you there for kindly give me a list of those persons who were present under you, that if any are left I may consult them about a few matters. In one of the divisions
