Dear Mr. Gilman,

Cross is a very good man in many respects & I think that he would do very well. Commander Jewell I have heard of but do not know much about.

If you are satisfied I would be.

At the same time these two men do not strengthen the jury on the practical side dynamo, motors street railways etc. We have only Duncan in that line. We are yet weak in the extremely practical part. What does Duncan say?

Yours truly
H. N. Rowland.
