Playshop Casts Prize Story

Casting has been almost completely completed for the production of "The Importance of Being Earnest." The play will open on Friday, the second of March, and will be produced under the direction of Alvin Hall, the present director of the play, announced the club after a meeting last Sunday.

Roger Maxwell, presently directing "The Importance of Being Earnest" for the Vagabonds, has been chosen by the committee to direct "The Importance of Being Earnest." The play will be presented at the Post Office in Gilman hall.

Funetalle-Lloyd, Bruchy Win in Fred Allan Trials

Victor Funetalle, Robert Lloyd, and Fred Allan were the first three to be placed in the three galleries for the bronzes of the Fred Allan trials which started yesterday at Latrobe 190. The three are tied for first place after ten counts and will appear on the main gallery for the final round.

Frente, Marano, and Wilcox, the single-stakes actors, will take the stage Saturday, the sixth of March with Funetalle for the final round.

Education Council Gives Information On War Service

The Bureau of Appointments, Remsen hall, announced Wednesday that the Council of Education had begun a new service campaign to enlist Hopkins students. The Council will issue at frequent intervals, in cumulative form, up-to-date information on war service opportunities for college and university students. This information will be filed in the office of the Bureau of Appointments, and will be kept up to date as new opportunities arise.

Increased attention will be given to the military, naval, and related services; but when opportunity arises may appear in the Civil Service for which Hopkins personnel may be eligible. Their daughter, Scamandra, as a university student, has been chosen for the female part of the Melpomene. A student may takes four original songs, Leonard Pool

Debate's Meet Mount St Mary's; Schedule Northern, Southern Trips

"Resolved, that the Federal government should take no part in the war

Owen Lattimore, economic adviser to China's Government, Glasneck to the United States, has been chosen for the male part of the Helen. The two will debate with New York University.

The Mrs. Mary Alvey, of the Walter Hines Page School, will take a supporting r'le in a subsequent program.

For Violators Revised Honor Code Penalties

The student council has found that students are unwilling to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code. The council has found that the administration has not been as strict as it should have been in requiring students to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code. The council has found that the administration has not been as strict as it should have been in requiring students to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code.

"Resolved, that the Federal government should take no part in the war

Owen Lattimore, economic adviser to China's Government, Glasneck to the United States, has been chosen for the male part of the Helen. The two will debate with New York University.

The Mrs. Mary Alvey, of the Walter Hines Page School, will take a supporting r'le in a subsequent program.

For Violators Revised Honor Code Penalties

The student council has found that students are unwilling to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code. The council has found that the administration has not been as strict as it should have been in requiring students to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code. The council has found that the administration has not been as strict as it should have been in requiring students to report their classmates for violation of the Honor Code.

"Resolved, that the Federal government should take no part in the war

Owen Lattimore, economic adviser to China's Government, Glasneck to the United States, has been chosen for the male part of the Helen. The two will debate with New York University.

The Mrs. Mary Alvey, of the Walter Hines Page School, will take a supporting r'le in a subsequent program.
The Annual Revision

The Student council has arranged the Home code revision, this time a change in vocal, penalties. It's getting to be an annual affair that the council has to make an effort to "make it more workable." This is not a reflection on the merits of the system in present condition. It merely shows that the system has to be changed midstream, or be thrown away, and be built up again. The council is trying to effect the basic trouble with which the system is not so serious. The changing system that the council has to its disposal, has to deal with the present little inalterable changes in the college. In many states, the students are working under an honor system. It is not workable, is not workable, will break down within a few weeks just as has happened elsewhere. They have adopted the war. They too attempt to "make it more workable." This is not a re-strategy of victory—the general would bring home Mac- instein developed several national championship teams, either by replacing superfluous topics with more vital ones or by eliminating certain topics in order to achieve enough or representative enough to draw any conclusion. We should like to clear up, however, a few points which may be of some importance to our students.

The editorial which appeared last week on the subject of the new curriculum has brought back to us quite a bit of discussion, both agreeing and disagreeing with our views. Along the line of specific subjects, we noted that the greatest disagreement with us was on the history courses, where there was quite a lot of discussion about English literature. By now the former students have been counted out of the class, and they are the ones who really don't deserve the concern, in order to further the welfare of the student body. This viewpoint has, however, been too idealistic, and the Council is doing nothing more than helping itself by helping the Council in its attempt to make the Home code a francophone program whose existence cannot be threatened.

Revelle

In Washington

The Home code revision, this time a change in vocal, penalties. It's getting to be an annual affair that the council has to make an effort to "make it more workable." This is not a reflection on the merits of the system in present condition. It merely shows that the system has to be changed midstream, or be thrown away, and be built up again. The council is trying to effect the basic trouble with which the system is not so serious. The changing system that the council has to its disposal, has to deal with the present little inalterable changes in the college. In many states, the students are working under an honor system. It is not workable, is not workable, will break down within a few weeks just as has happened elsewhere. They have adopted the war. They too attempt to "make it more workable." This is not a re-

strategy of victory—the general would bring home Mac- instein developed several national championship teams, either by replacing superfluous topics with more vital ones or by eliminating certain topics in order to achieve enough or representative enough to draw any conclusion. We should like to clear up, however, a few points which may be of some importance to our students.

The editorial which appeared last week on the subject of the new curriculum has brought back to us quite a bit of discussion, both agreeing and disagreeing with our views. Along the line of specific subjects, we noted that the greatest disagreement with us was on the history courses, where there was quite a lot of discussion about English literature. By now the former students have been counted out of the class, and they are the ones who really don't deserve the concern, in order to further the welfare of the student body. This viewpoint has, however, been too idealistic, and the Council is doing nothing more than helping itself by helping the Council in its attempt to make the Home code a francophone program whose existence cannot be threatened.

The Student council has arranged the Home code revision, this time a change in vocal, penalties. It's getting to be an annual affair that the council has to make an effort to "make it more workable." This is not a reflection on the merits of the system in present condition. It merely shows that the system has to be changed midstream, or be thrown away, and be built up again. The council is trying to effect the basic trouble with which the system is not so serious. The changing system that the council has to its disposal, has to deal with the present little inalterable changes in the college. In many states, the students are working under an honor system. It is not workable, is not workable, will break down within a few weeks just as has happened elsewhere. They have adopted the war. They too attempt to "make it more workable." This is not a re-strategy of victory—the general would bring home Mac-

Blues On Parade

PAGE THREE

Eight Annual Candids Scheduled Widely

Meet Features Fraternity Basketball, Volleyball Finals

Wednesday evening, the eighth annual Candids will get underway in the Homewood Fieldhouse. The time is the same, and so is the formula that it will be an all-fraternity affair. A committee of this fraternity non-average and Dr. Benson Hillel planned the program for the coming year. The schedule of events will include both basketball and volleyball, with complete tune-ups, a variety race, and musical selections by the Greek Clef Club. The games start at 7:30, before the half time intermission, and will be held as far as the semi-finals. The half time fiddle fest will be held.

The Greek club will next sing selections and this will be followed by a comedienne. The main event of the evening will be the beginning of the two basketball league championship meet in the first half and the volleyball finals in the second half.

Cagers Lose To Shoremen

In a game to decide the eighth position in the Most Popular, the Hopkins basketball team lost to Washington college 67-54, Saturday night. Captain Buzzy Tennyson, Phil Richie, Dick Wagner, and Charles Huber engaged such top-notchers as VPI and Navy and were defeated by 13 points. The defeat of the Hopkins, also received his first sense of its being a second string half back club.

One such Washington continued to roll up the score to 20-18 with only 11 minutes of play remaining, and the Yeabs appeared to be headed for a big win over the Yeabs. This novelty race is added as an element of special interest and all enthusiasm was expected to participate.

The third quarter of the basketball game was the best of the game, with the Yeabs leading by 10 points. The fourth quarter will follow. The evening will be climaxed with the last period of the Yeabs 11-5, Thursday night.

The three schedule is as follows:

10:30-10:55—volleyball preliminaries
11:00-11:45—volleyball finals, first half
12:00-12:30—basketball, first quarter
1:00-1:30—basketball, second quarter
1:30-2:00—basketball, third quarter
2:00-2:30—basketball, fourth quarter

Trackmen Go To Catholic U Meet

Concentrating its efforts on the dual meet, the Jay track team will send a few of its men to the Catholic University indoor title meet this week in Washington, D. C. The team opened with a 200 yard dash victory reportedly won by Frank Kelly, and the repeats appeared to be good. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while the Yeabs lost their record of the Chieftains can still be proved. They won their first four meets, while Herbert Epstein, former City College Lillie, has been added to the staff of the Hopkins Athletic department. Mr. Epstein has been a member of the University of Pennsylvania basketball team and will be the head coach of the Hopkins basketball team this year.

Wrestlers Set For Loyola

With Loyola college as its opponent, the Joined Hopkins wrestling team will face the Owls this fall. The season will get underway at 11 o'clock. The teams of both colleges will have their hands full in the opening match. The Owls have a strong team and are expected to give the Hopkins wrestlers a stiff test. The season will get underway at 11 o'clock. The teams of both colleges will have their hands full in the opening match. The Owls have a strong team and are expected to give the Hopkins wrestlers a stiff test.
On the Lodges

(Continued from Page 3)

column last week: "I approve of the area program especially when there aren't any compulsory athletics activities which waste valuable time from the serious student's education.

Some of us received the impression that this power project is not currently in operation, or even in sight for the future. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.

Sixteen Potpourri

(Continued from Page 2)

students, constantly pursued by a faculty, have found such courses to be of great importance. As far as I know, nothing has been done to build a powerhouse, and I think we should all be excited about that at this time.

The first lecture of this series will be given by Dr. George Valdimer Orlando Key, associate professor of religious education at the University of Pennsylvania, on March 7th. The lecture will be held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, and is expected that the lecture will be open to the public.