MEDICAL ILLUSTRATIONS SHOWN

Splendid Work Demonstrated by the New Department of the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

A little-known and very interesting work of the University was brought out by an exhibition which was held last week at the Medical School. The work displayed was that of the pupils of the Department of Art as Applied to Medicine, the work of Mr. Max Broedel.

Since the introduction of printing, physicians have taken pride in having their books well illustrated, but except in a few instances the results attained have not been satisfactory; since the work has been in the hands of artists who were unfamiliar with anatomy and medicine or of physicians who were not trained artists. Recently, however, there has been a new development of the art of medical illustration in this country, led by Mr. Broedel, who has been working at Johns Hopkins Hospital for a number of years.

He has brought a thorough knowledge of anatomy, added to great artistic skill, to bear on the problem; and, in addition, has invented new technical methods of representing the complicated details of anatomical and pathological specimens, so that the books which he has illustrated, notably those of Dr. Howard A. Kelly and Dr. T. S. Cullen, stand as models of artistic illustration.

Mr. Broedel has recently been made associate professor of art as applied to medicine, and has organized systematic instruction, not only for the medical students who may elect such work, but for those who may desire to enter medical illustrating as a permanent profession. The exhibition of last week was intended to show the work done in the new department. A large number of drawings were displayed in water-color, crayon, pen-and-ink, charcoal and pencil. Many of them have appeared in various journals and text-books, illustrating subjects in the fields of anatomy, pathology, medicine, surgery and gynecology. The drawings were done by medical students, members of the medical faculty, artist-pupils and by the director of the course himself.

The exhibition demonstrated that the new department is well abreast of the rest of the University in excellence, and that it represents an immense stride forward in bringing a combination of scientific accuracy and graphic skill to the aid of medical study.

HOPKINS TO MARCH IN PARADE

To Be Represented in Inaugural Ceremonies on March 4 by a Large Delegation—Rehearsals Being Held.

Much has been done during the past week by the committee in charge of making arrangements for the Johns Hopkins delegation in the inaugural parade of President-elect Woodrow Wilson, which will be held in Washington on March 4. From present indications Hopkins will have between one and two hundred marchers in the college division of the parade. Approximately one hundred students have already signed up for caps and gowns for the occasion and a number of others have indicated that they would probably do the same. Several lines may be formed in the parade of students dressed in dark blue suits or dark overcoats. The inaugural committee will sanction such an arrangement, provided there is a general appearance of uniformity.

Hopkins has the possibility of being given first place in the parade, provided it sends a larger delegation than Princeton. Although this is hardly probable, yet there will be no excuse for Hopkins not sending a larger number of paraders than the University of Virginia or Davidson College, which are the chief rivals of Hopkins for second place.

The success of the college division has been assured by the immediate responses that have been made from universities and colleges all over the East in answer to invitations to participate. New York University has already ordered a hundred caps and gowns for its delegation and hopes to supplement this order by a still larger one. Eastern College of Manassas, Va., will send sixty students in caps and gowns, which is practically its entire student body. Western Maryland College will turn out almost to a man. Hopkins certainly should not allow itself to be outdone by these institutions which have no special ties with Woodrow Wilson.

The Hopkins committee has ordered a large number of sashes for the paraders. These are of blue felt with gold letters. The sashes, on the black background of the bachelor's gown, should stand out prominently and it is doubtful if there will be any other delegation with as good a color scheme. As soon as the sashes are completed they will be shipped to the committee, and the committee will sell them to the students at the very low cost price of 20 cents apiece.

Several marching rehearsals will be held this week in the cage. Everyone should watch the bulletin

HOPKINS WINS POINT TROPHY

Virginia Is Beaten Out in the George Washington University Indoor Meet. The Relay Team Wins Again.

The Varsity track team and that from the University of Virginia were close contenders at the indoor games promoted by the George Washington University in Washington on Saturday. Hopkins piled up 30 points in the open events; Virginia, 13; Hopkins only 1 in the championships; Virginia, 10. The Y. M. C. A. of Baltimore was third with 11 tallies, Irish-American Athletic Club next with 10 points. Kiviat and Sheppard won these points in the mile and half-mile events, respectively. Kiviat's race was won in 4 minutes 36½ seconds from scratch—excellent time for the wretched condition of the track in Convention Hall. John Reeside ran third to Kiviat in the mile.

The Varsity relay team easily beat Richmond College in a mile race. McDonagh running first against Richmond's best man, opened up a lead of 15 yards and touched off Wells, who doubled the lead. The excellent running of Hopkins' first two men won the race, for Lloyd and Catlin had merely to loaf along comfortably to maintain the advantage handed to them.

Connolly, Blanco and Horrax took three places in the high jump in the order named. Connolly's height was 5 feet 7½ inches. Blanco also got second medal in the pole vault from scratch with a vault of 10 feet 3 inches. The work of this new man is encouraging and he gives promise of being a valuable asset outdoors. Groover ran a good race in the S. A. A. U. championship quarter and won third place from a large field. He won the only point for Hopkins in the championship events.

Pieper and Lloyd, together, netted nine points in the 50-yard dashes. Pieper won the novice event in 5½ seconds. The 50-yard open handicap race was run off simultaneously with the novice race, and Pieper took third immediately afterward in this event. Lloyd finished ahead of him in second place. Dignan was heavily handicapped in the 12-pound shot-put and only secured second place. His best put was 48 feet 9 inches. McDonagh won the 50-yard open handicap hurdles in 6½ seconds. He took the hurdles in wonderful form and beat out his brother, Thomas P. McDonagh of the Cross Country Club.

COMMEMORATION DAY EXERCISES

Held Last Saturday in McCoy Hall—Dr. Mitchell Delivers Inspiring Address on "The Task of the Publicist."

The exercises commemorative of the opening of the Hopkins University thirty-seven years ago were held last Saturday in McCoy Hall amid the usual impressive scenes. Members of the faculty, each in his magnificent doctorate robe, carried the onlookers back to the days when church and college were one, and when college faculties on high days imitated in the richness of their own celebrations the still greater richness of those of the church. The alumni, the graduate students in the arts and sciences, the students of medicine and the undergraduates followed the first division, each in a distinct division of its own. While the procession was filing in, members of the United States Marine Band, under the direction of Edwin L. Turnbull, rendered the march from Tannhäuser, Wagner and the Marche Militaire in their usual exquisite style.

After the invocation by Dr. Kinsolving, rector of St. Paul's Church, Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell, president of the University of South Carolina, delivered an inspiring address on "The Task of the Publicist." President Mitchell opened his address by telling of the new intellectual life which graduates of the Hopkins University breathed into the listless South immediately after the Civil War. Proceeding to his principal subject, he declared that a call has been sent forth by the people of this country to the universities for trained men. To supply the country with this body of trained men who should also possess practical experience in governmental affairs, he suggested that the government be induced to give scholarships to graduates of the political science department of the University which would entitle the holder to study in the government bureaus at Washington how the government is dealing with present-day practical problems. In concluding, he declared that America had a great trust to keep, a great idea to cherish—the idea of the unity of mankind. From the university, where merit is the measure of the man, where something like equality exists, must come the disinterested publicists to keep the idea untarnished.

After Dr. Mitchell has finished his address, Professor Mathews in behalf of the students, past and present, of Prof. William Bullock Clark, presented to the University a portrait of Dr. Clark.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings.

The Y. M. C. A. is to have a series of three meetings next week on Monday and Tuesday at 5 P. M. and on Wednesday at 1.15 P. M. The general topic of the meetings will be "How to Make the Best of Life." On Monday Dr. Hogue of Ascension P. E. Church will speak. He is a graduate of Sewanee University, where he was prominent in athletics and especially as a member of the baseball team. Before he came to Baltimore he was the chaplain of the University of North Carolina. Dr. Lynn H. Hough of Mt. Vernon Place M. E. Church will address the students on Tuesday. Anyone who has heard Dr. Hough since he came to Baltimore a year ago knows him to be a speaker of remarkable ability and charming presence, as well as a man of profound thought. Dr. Kirk, who is to be the speaker on Wednesday, needs no introduction to students anywhere in Eastern Colleges, much less to Hopkins men.

All athletic practices are called off for Monday and Tuesday by the various captains of the teams, so that there will be no University activity to keep a man from attending any of these meetings. Light lunch will be served in Levering Hall on Wednesday at 12.55 o'clock.

Engineering Society.

The speaker at the last meeting of the Hopkins Engineering Society, which was held February 17, was Mr. J. E. Greiner, a consulting engineer of national reputation. The lecture was one of the best of the year, the subject being "What Is an Engineer?" Mr. Greiner first told of the work which an engineer does, then gave an outline of the history of engineering and, finally, discussed the place of the engineer in the community of today. At the end of his address Mr. Greiner was given a vote of thanks by the members of the society, who, without an exception, enjoyed his lecture thoroughly.

At the next meeting, which will be held on March 3, the society will be addressed by Prof. W. J. A. Bliss, who has not as yet announced his subject. The following are a few of the gentlemen who will be asked to speak before the society in the near future: Mr. Calvin W. Hendrick, the city sewerage engineer; Mr. Rossiter S. Scott of the Gas and Electric Company; Mr. ("Uncle") Frank H. Hambleton; Mr. Louis Potts of the Rowland Multiple Printing Telegraph Company and Mr. Frederick W. Wood of the Maryland Steel Company.

ALUMNI NOTES.

David D. Leib, Ph. D. '09, is teaching mathematics at Yale.

Reginald S. Opie, '04, is practicing law in Baltimore.

Harry K. Hardcastle, '07, is with the Westinghouse Electric Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Murray P. Brush, Ph. D. '98, collegiate professor of French at Hopkins, was recently elected a trustee of the Peabody Institute of this city.

The Adult Bible Class Monthly will provide in 1913 a series of articles on the political and social meaning of the early part of the Old Testament. The writer is Dr. Frank W. Collier, a graduate of Johns Hopkins.

S. N. Loose, who did graduate work here in 1903, after working for four years with a brokerage firm in New York, went to Hagerstown, Md. He is now one of the largest individual owners of peach and apple orchards in the State.

Chase Palmer and Edward H. Spieker are the two surviving members of the Class of 1879, the first class to graduate from the University. Dr. Palmer is with the United States Geological Survey and Dr. Spieker is associate professor of Greek and Latin at the University.

The Class of 1880, which numbered sixteen men, has nine members living today—Rev. Thomas M. Beadenkopf, a clergyman in Baltimore; Alexander F. Jamieson, master of Latin, Lawrenceville School, N. J.; Leigh C. Morgan; Thomas Pettigrew, a civil engineer; Harry Fielding Reid, Johns Hopkins professor of geological physics, who is well known everywhere for his work in geology; Allen Kerr Bond, a physician in Baltimore; Henry L. Gantt, a mechanical engineer at Pawtucket, R. I.; Edgar Goodman, editor of the Baltimore American; and Rev. Carl E. Grammer, a clergyman in Philadelphia.

Last Cotillon on Saturday, April 5.

The Cotillon Board decided, at a meeting held during the past week, to hold the last cotillon on the evening of Saturday, April 5. The dance is to take place on Saturday, for on Friday night the members of the athletic teams would be unable to attend. On April 5 all teams play at home. Arrangements are being made by the board to make this dance one of the most successful ever held at Hopkins. Already some of those who were unable to attend the previous dances have given their subscription for the coming dance. Because of this, a record-breaking attendance is looked for.

The New Urological Clinic.

Tentative plans for the $200,000 urological clinic, given by "Diamond Jim" Brady, the millionaire steel car magnate, to the trustees of Johns Hopkins Hospital, have been begun by Archer & Allen, the architects commissioned to design the building. The building, a five-story brick structure with all modern equipment, will be begun about the first of April, in accordance with the expressed wish of Mr. Brady, who has written the Hopkins authorities that the first financial installment of the gift will be made then.

The $200,000 given to the hospital by Mr. Brady followed his recuperation at the institution last year. It was made through Dr. Hugh Young, who performed the operation on Mr. Brady. The clinic will be known as the James Buchanan Brady Urological Clinic.

To the Students of the Johns Hopkins University.

By the nomination to high public office this year of two men holding degrees from it, the Johns Hopkins University was singularly honored. It was unfortunate that party lines absolutely forbade the election of both. The same wave that swept into office Woodrow Wilson, Democratic nominee for President of the United States, carried away Nicholas Murray Butler, the Republican nominee for Vice-President.

Governor Wilson, when political opponents were taking pains to call him Dr. Wilson, for the purpose of discrediting him before the people, showed the same true pride in his education as now when college men have been invited to march at his inauguration. In this inaugural procession Johns Hopkins was offered a place. And it was accepted.

The University authorities have taken so much interest that they have allowed us a holiday, that we may participate. But the real success is totally in our own hands and will succeed or fail as the students decide. THE NEWS-LETTER believes that this is the time, if there ever was one, for concerted action. In spite of all that can be said, the invitation means that we are invited to take part in a ceremony which is intended to add dignity and impressiveness to the office of the Presidency of our great country. In the tramping feet, the nation turns out to applaud its chief. This honor of ours is an honor which, to most of us, can come but once in a life-time—an honor which the marchers will remember forever.

Around the Princeton flag will rally a thousand men. The University of Virginia will gather together its students from everywhere. Johns Hopkins has promised to take part, and it must fill its place worthily. With our small numbers, the responsibility devolves on the individual man. You personally must take part.

The latest reports from Washington in regard to the inaugural parade are to the effect that it will be composed of two divisions. In the first are to be placed the representatives of the Regular Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps, together with the cadets from West Point and the middies from Annapolis. In the second division will be all military troops and the cadets from the various military schools throughout the country, the latter arranged according to the date of their founding.—The Cadet, Virginia Military Institute.

Oxford University takes pride in the fact that at least one-half of every cabinet that has been formed in England for the past hundred years has been composed of Oxford men.

The University of Pennsylvania athletic associations raised a fund of $262,000 by subscription for the construction of a gymnasium and issued bonds for the same purpose for an equal amount.

Queen's University, Toronto, Canada, recently gave LL.D. to the new Governor-General of Canada. The principal then presented His Royal Highness to the Chancellor, with the following address:

"Mr. Chancellor—I have the honor to present to you for the degree of doctor of laws, Field Marshal, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada."

The Johns Hopkins Philological Association met last Friday, February 21, at 1 P. M. Dr. Collitz of the Germanic department read a paper on the "Etymology of the English Word 'Ill,' the Greek Word 'Kalos' and the Gothic Word 'Izwiz.'" Professor Haupt of the Semetic department read a paper on "Two New Hebrew Words." Discussion followed the reading of each paper.

SUDDEN DEATH OF PROF. WILSON

One of Best Loved and Most Prominent Professors Stricken With Pneumonia.

The news of the death of Dr. Harry L. Wilson, professor of Roman archaeology and epigraphy in Johns Hopkins University, came as a terrible shock to his many friends and students who had seen him in his accustomed office chair just last week. Professor Wilson died on the twenty-second in Pittsburgh of a sudden attack of double pneumonia. He had traveled to Pittsburgh to have a conference with Dr. F. W. Shipley of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and one of the vice-presidents of the Archaeological Institute of America. While conferring with Dr. W. J. Holland, president of the Pittsburgh Society of the Archaeological Institute, on Friday afternoon, he was taken suddenly sick and was moved to the Columbia Hospital, where he passed away. Mrs. Wilson was at his bedside from Saturday evening to the end.

Professor Wilson was born at Wilson, Ontario, Canada, in 1867. He took his bachelor of arts degree at Queen's University, Kingston, Canada. In 1896 he was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy. In 1890 he was instructor in Greek at Queen's University. Three years later he entered this University as a graduate student in Latin, Sanskrit and Greek. He was gradually promoted, and in 1906 he was made professor of Roman archaeology and epigraphy. In 1906, also, he was elected professor of Latin at the American School of Classical Studies at Rome—a rare honor. He is the author of numerous monographs on subjects connected with Latin language and literature.

The sudden and unexpected death of Prof. H. L. Wilson is a great loss to the University and to the work in which he was deeply interested. As yet I cannot trust myself to speak at length of the personality or of the career of the colleague, companion and friend who has sat by my side for so many years.—K. F. Smith.

MR. RUDOLF CRONAU TO LECTURE

'Three Centuries of German Life in America' Will Be the Subject, Beautifully Illustrated.

On Tuesday, February 25, Mr. Rudolf Cronau will deliver an illustrated lecture in McCoy Hall, under the auspices of the Independent Citizens' Union of Maryland. His subject will be "Three Centuries of German Life in America." Briefly, he will sketch the causes of German emigration, the origin of the first German settlements and the hardships of the pioneers. He will tell about their early press and publications, their part in the Indian wars and Revolution, as well as in the Civil War. He will show the development of the Germans as farmers, manufacturers and merchants, as well as in the sciences and professions.

Mr. Cronau is a litterateur and an artist, and contributes to many periodicals, both German and English. He is the author of a number of historical works; among others, his "Drei Jahrhunderte Deutschen Lebens in Amerika," for which he received the second prize of $2,000 in the Seip Memorial Prize Contest. The first prize in this contest was taken by Prof. A. B. Faust of Cornell University, a Hopkins graduate. During the evening the Harmonie Singing Society will render two choruses.

The Independent Citizens' Union of Maryland, of which Mr. Karl A. M. Scholtz, the Baltimore attorney, is secretary, is a member of the German-American National Alliance. Some of its purposes are the protection of German immigrants, the study of American institutions and the cultivation of the German language, literature and drama. The society has done much good work, and has been the means of bringing many notable speakers before the public.

Chess Tournament.

The chess tournament which was begun several weeks ago has been progressing slowly. There are eleven entries and twenty-one games have been played. As already announced, prizes will be awarded to the two best contestants. The standing of the players at the end of last week is as follows:

REVIVAL OF DRAMATICS

Grotius Society Plans the Production of a Play After Easter—Members Only May Take Part.

The Grotius Society of the University held its regular weekly meeting last Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the Donovan Room. President Sinclair presided. The debating team is hard at work preparing for the contest with the University of Pennsylvania. A committee is at work trying to plan for the production of a play as soon after Easter as possible. It is hoped by the officers of the society that this will prove an attraction for some who are not as yet members of the society. Any who may wish to enroll as members should speak with Secretary Richmond and be present at 1 o'clock on Tuesdays.

The society has also taken charge of the arrangements for the annual Intercollegiate Peace Oratorical Contest. This contest will take place on April 4. The Maryland colleges that will send representatives to this contest are St. John's, Loyola, Georgetown and Washington. The preliminaries at Hopkins will be held in the near future. All who desire to compete should speak at once with Mr. Richmond.

Several other interesting events are on the program of the Grotius Society. Congressman Konig and Mr. Ogden, who addressed the society before Christmas, have both consented to deliver short talks at at 1 o'clock to the members of the society and their friends. The dates of these talks will be announced later.

Correction.

We regret that the following mistake was made last week in the article headed "Recent Publications," page 7, column 4.

"Some Parallel Formations" appeared as Volume 1 of an Ergänzungsreihe to Hesperia, not as Volume 4.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

A Difference.

George Ade, at a dinner in New York, urged a nicer use of words. "Use words with delicate care," he said. "Observe all their subtle distinctions. Never write 'vision,' for instance, when 'sight' is what you mean."

"There's no difference between 'sight' and 'vision,'" interrupted an editor.

"No?" said Mr. Ade. "And yet, 'Billy,' when you and I passed each other on Broadway yesterday afternoon, the girl I was with was a vision, while the one with you was a sight."

Miss Bee and Miss Gossip.

"Morning," buzzed Miss Bee as she alighted on the soft, chubby arm of Miss Gossip.

"Get 'way, you terrible insect!" cried Miss Gossip, as she waved her arm.

"Be patient with me," returned Miss Bee, as she moved to Miss Gossip's ear, "I would have words with thee."

"Well," said Miss Gossip, "speak, but don't sting."

"Go thou and do likewise," buzzed Miss Bee, and she went to seek the honey.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Two men were hotly discussing the merits of a book. Finally one of them, himself an author, said to the other: "No, John, you can't appreciate it. You never wrote a book yourself."

"No," retorted John, "and I never laid an egg, but I am a better judge of an omelet than any hen in the State."

GREAT ALUMNI BANQUET

Interesting Speeches and Fine Old Maryland Dinner Enjoyed by Graduates and Guests—Election Results.

About two hundred alumni seated around small tables in the English tea room of the Belvedere last Saturday night enjoyed the most interesting of all their annual banquets yet held.

Dr. Thomas R. Brown, president of the Alumni Association, introduced Dr. William H. Welch, the first speaker, as a man who "though unmarried was the father of a very large family." "Family," of course, referred to the graduates of the Medical school, and these alumni, as if catching a clue, broke out with nine raahs for "Popsie" Welch in a remarkable unison that caused much laughter and forced Dr. Welch to face a smiling audience.

Dr. Welch passed over this "embarrassing introduction" and read telegrams from several alumni associations containing greetings and congratulations. He then spoke of the new technical branch and said that the group system of studies now followed in the arts and science department would no doubt be used in the technical courses. He said that a prescribed course was too rigid and an elective system too loose. The group system followed in the new courses, he continued, would give the men a satisfactory engineering education and a certain degree of broadening along general lines, a combination often omitted in some schools.

Dr. Welch stated that he did not especially desire the chairmanship of the executive committee of the University, and smilingly admitted that Dean Griffin was bearing the drudgery of the work.

Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, the next speaker, told of the advantages Hopkins has for making an eminently successful technical school, because of its geographical position; "able to draw," he said, "the best men from the North and the best from the South." He also paid the compliment "that the whole scheme of American education was jackscrewed up with the founding of the University in 1876." Dr. Mitchell told an amusing incident of a fellow traveller he once met who said that, next to the Baltimore City College, Johns Hopkins was the best school in the city.

Omer F. Hershey's speech, a forceful plea for more intimate relations between the University and Baltimore, glowed with mild satire, humor and serious criticism. Mr. Hershey was fortified with a compendium of weighty and copious quotations. He referred to Aristotle, Lessing, Nietzsche and Mencken's "Free Lance." He said he felt that a speech before academicians should bulge with quotations and for that reason he had supplied himself plentifully. Once he ascribed a joke to Aristotle, but later admitted that he had only done so so as to have it appreciated.

THE NEWS-LETTER'S MAIL BAG

A Column in Which the Correspondents Are Allowed Latitude, but Shoulder the Responsibility.

February 24, 1913.

To the Editor of THE NEWS-LETTER:

I write the following to THE NEWS-LETTER so that it may be a little more timely than if it appeared in the columns of its slower-footed associate, The Alumni Magazine.

I hardly see any reason for the woeful lack of recent graduates of the academic department for the alumni banquet on Saturday night.

It is true that the more recent classes do not appear to be especially welcome in alumni council or councils, or in any alumni affairs, yet, nevertheless, a few at least should show sufficient interest to attend the annual banquets.

I did not see (and there was none, I am sure) a single man from the 1909, 1910 or 1911 classes, and there were only four from the 1912 Class.

One thing that struck me in connection with the banquet was that it seemed rather discourteous for the speakers who followed Mr. Hershey to jump on him as they did after the committee had invited him to speak on the topic he did.

That topic left a road open for the criticism at which they flinched. It seems to me that it would have been more courteous to Mr. Hershey as a guest for the other speakers to have taken their medicine like men, whether or not they agreed with Mr. Hershey, and not strike back at that particular time.

Previous to the banquet a business meeting was held and the results of the mail vote for the election of the Alumni Association's officers announced. They were:

President—Dr. Thomas R. Brown.

Secretary—William S. Bansemer.

Treasurer—Horace E. Flack.

Executive Committee—George L. Radcliffe, Harry N. Baetjer, Dr. John B. Whitehead, William H. Maltbie and Dr. J. A. Chatard.

Alumni Council:

From the Ph. D. Group—Prof. Edward B. Matthews, professor of mineralogy and epigraphy.

From the M. D. Group—Dr. Joseph H. Pratt and Dr. William S. Baer.

From the A. B. Group—Dr. George L. P. Radcliffe.

At Large—Dr. Walter Hines Page of New York City.

IMPORTANT LECTURE ON FEB. 27

All Students Invited to Hear Dr. Wm. H. Howell, Professor of Physiology, Speak on Eugenics.

Mrs. Huntington Wilson of Washington, D. C., has provided for a lecture on eugenics before the students of the Johns Hopkins University. In her letter making the offer of an honorarium for this purpose, Mrs. Wilson makes use of the following language:

I believe in the value to our nation of the teachings of eugenics, and I think that the first step to be taken toward the acceptance and application of those teachings is to create a healthy public opinion and social attitude towards them. To that end, I make this offer, as I can think of no more effectual move in that direction than to have the subject fairly, forcefully, practically, from the point of view in their own lives, and above all appealingly, presented to as many student bodies of the country as possible.

My first idea was to try to get one man who would be equipped with the necessary knowledge, tact and address to travel about and lecture before as many student bodies as possible in the year, but I now think that a better way will be to have, wherever possible, a suitably equipped professor in the college or university itself, who already carries weight with the students, work up the subject and present it to them, thereby creating various new foci of interest throughout the country, or stimulating existing ones. In cases where there might occasionally not happen to be in particular colleges or universities available men for this task, it would be necessary to arrange to send someone from outside to give the lecture. For use in such cases, and also in order to collect the best contributions thus made to the subject, I make it a condition of my offer that the lecture be written and that it be placed at my disposal after delivery. My idea would be that in the case of a very good lecture, the lecturer would be willing, at my request, to go and deliver it again for the same honorarium in some other college where no local man was to be had; or it might be printed as a pamphlet and used in "follow up work"; or it might, at my request, be delivered by someone else, of course, giving credit to the author; or it might possibly be placed with some periodical for publication, in which case, of course, the amount paid for it would be sent to the author.

A very important factor in the success of the lecture will be, to my mind, the personality and popularity with the students of the man who delivers it. Another important factor will be the thorough arousing of interest on the part of the students of all four years to the point that they will go to hear it in a receptive frame of mind. These two things I leave in your hands.

Please let me know whether you have a professor whom you believe to be suitable to this task and who is willing to undertake it, and, if you have not, please tell me, in order that I may arrange to send you a lecturer later on, after some of the lectures have come in, if you will allow me to do so.

Dr. William H. Howell, professor of physiology in the University, has consented to deliver this lecture on Thursday, February 27, at 5 P. M.,

OFF TO "YE OLDE" SALISBURY

Musical Clubs Take Their Yearly Trip to the Eastern Shore—Many Delightful Concerts Ahead.

Early last Saturday morning, the Musical Clubs of the University began their celebration of Washington's birthday by boarding the train for Wilmington, Del. They were setting out for their concert at Salisbury, being forced to take this round-about route because they were unable to make convenient connections via water. At Wilmington, the Eastern Shore "flyer" was waiting to receive the musicians and to roll them into Salisbury shortly after dinner time. The delay had sharpened the appetites of all, and the hotel's kitchen and pantry were almost eaten bare.

During the afternoon several of the young ladies of the town invited the members of the clubs to attend an informal reception, which everyone, it goes without saying, thoroughly enjoyed.

The concert was held in the evening in the "armory." The artistic decorations showed the work of female hands. The concert was enjoyed by all, and the audience, while not as large as might have been expected, was very appreciative. After the concert the chairs were quickly disposed of and an enjoyable dance followed until the clock bells tolled the midnight hour.

Those who made the trip from Baltimore were: Messrs. Gillet, Fulton, Getz, Ray, Bacchus, Paulus, Schmeid, Bowden, White, Eiseman, Aler, Scovell, Marston, Howell, Supplee, Spieker, Jacobs, Niles, Weber, Schneeburger, Uhler, Coblentz, Lynch, Geissel, Gminder, Lauchheimer, Cole, Baker and Linthicum.

The clubs will have their hands full during the next few days. On the twenty-fifth they will give a concert at one of the Baltimore churches; on the twenty-seventh they will give a concert and dance at the Catonsville High School. On Friday, March 28, the Friday after Easter, the clubs will make a trip to Sparrows Point and attempt to show the Pointers what good music is. On April 4 the clubs are planning a concert at Forest Park. With a schedule such as this the clubs should spread their fame and come to the end of the year with their finances in thriving condition.

in McCoy Hall. All the students are urged to be present and a block of seats will be reserved for them. The public is also invited.

The point trophy, which the team won, has been placed in the trophy room along with the South Atlantic Intercollegiate Championship Cup won by the relay team at the Hopkins games.

Hopkins Received Into I-C. A. A. A.

Graduate Manager Burgan and Paul O. Carter, manager of the track team, represented the General Athletic Association of the University on Saturday in New York at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. Hopkins gained admittance into the association after a lapse of four years. It is encouraging to supporters of the 'Varsity track team to know that Hopkins will be at the intercollegiate this spring in Cambridge. Other institutions admitted into the association at the same time were: California, Swarthmore, Franklin and Marshall and Georgetown.

The Indoor Track Season.

Two more sets of games remain on the indoor schedule for the 'Varsity track team—the Georgetown meet in Washington and the Richmond College meet in Richmond, Va. A large team will be selected from the squad of forty men for the Georgetown meet for the purpose of taking the point trophy. The relay team, consisting of McDonagh, Wells, Lloyd, Catlin and Stibel, is matched against Carlisle and Washington and Lee. In consideration of the quality of each four, the race with the Indians promises to be stirring. The 'Varsity holds the South Atlantic indoor record of 3 minutes 35½ seconds, made at the Hopkins games against Virginia.

The number of men who will go to Richmond must necessarily be small; ten perhaps, including five men for the relay team. No word has been received as to the college matched against Hopkins in this race.

During the next few weeks the mission study classes will start. At present only one is in progress. Dr. C. W. Young of Union Medical College, Pekin, and Hopkins '03, is giving a series of talks on Fridays, from 12 to 12.50 o'clock. The first one was given last Friday (the twenty-first) on the "Manchu Dynasty."

boards for announceemnts in regard to the time of these drills and should be on hand. Freddie Lee has been chosen as chief marshal of the parade and he will be assisted by President C. L. Getz of the senior class, Lewis Breuninger, Butts Sutton and Blanchard Randall.

Special railroad rates have been secured by the committee and every detail of the whole affair has been thoroughly gone over. All those who march in the parade can count on having a splendid time, and it also will be an occasion to which they can look back with pride in later years. All those who have not as yet arranged to go are advised to get into communication with the committee at once. All alumni of the University are corially invited to march in the Hopkins division of the parade. By co-operating with the students in this matter the alumni can help to make the Hopkins section of the college division of the parade a sight which will reflect credit on the University and which cannot help but appeal strongly to Woodrow Wilson as the marchers go past the President's reviewing stand.

Three degrees were given—doctor of philosophy to Willis Thomas Lee and to Patrick J. Nicholson, and to George Ross Veazey, formerly editor-in-chief of THE NEWS-LETTER, a master of arts degree.

Dr. Welch, who presided at the meeting, announced the appointment of three members to the faculty of the school of technology: John B. Whitehead, now professor of applied electricity at the University, to be professor of electrical engineering; Carl Clapp Thomas, now professor of steam and gas engineering at the University of Wisconsin, to be professor of mechanical engineering; Charles J. Tilden, now professor of engineering and mechanics at the University of Michigan, to be professor of civil engineering. He also announced the election of Frederick W. Wood, president of the Maryland Steel Company, to the Board of Trustees of the University. A fellowship in neurological surgery, a gift of Moses Goldenberg of this city, of $500 a year was also announced.
